Introduction of Kindai University

Kindai University, also referred to as Kindai, has six campuses around western Japan and is one of the nation's largest universities. Its main campus is located in Osaka and is officially called the Higashiosaka Campus. The university has a total of 14 faculties, nine of which are situated at the Higashiosaka campus. Among the 14 faculties, the Faculty of Business Administration, the Faculty of Applied Sociology and the Faculty of Science and Engineering attract many international students. The Higashiosaka campus is ideally located in that one can reach the business center of Osaka via train in less than fifteen minutes. Moreover, it takes only one hour to Kyoto, Nara or Kobe by train. Therefore, while you study at Kindai during the week, you can easily visit and enjoy many of Japan's oldest and most historical cities on the weekend.

The Higashiosaka campus is rather large (470,000m<sup>2</sup>) for an urban Japanese university. It is a modern university with up-to-date facilities. The Central Library has more than 1.4 million books, including many rare and valuable manuscripts. A new library with a large proportion of manga opened in 2017, which is home to around 70,000 books and about 22,000 comics, with a 2400-seat self-study space open for 24 hours.

One of the great academic achievements of Kindai University is the full-cycle aquaculture method used to farm the endangered Bluefin tuna. This cutting-edge research allows for a stable supply of this prized fish throughout Japan, and it may someday allow the wild Bluefin stocks to replenish to their natural levels. This Kindai Maguro (tuna) is famous throughout Japan and one of the many areas of research where Kindai University is making a name for itself.

Climate

Though Osaka is not in the southern part of the Japanese archipelago, it is famous for its heat waves in summer.

In spring, you can enjoy beautiful cherry blossoms at various locations around Osaka. This beauty perfectly matches the start of the new academic year. June usually opens with so-called "rainy season" with frequent showers and high humidity. In summer, everyone must prepare to endure the heat, with temperatures often rising as high as 38°C (100 °F). Autumn is the best season for sightseeing. You can visit temples, shrines, gardens or mountains to view the beautifully colored tree leaves. In winter, it rarely snows and the temperature, though cold, does not often drop below freezing.

Qualification for Admission for Exchange Students

- Applicants whose first language is not English must present proof of English proficiency (TOEFL iBT 61 or equivalent, or a support letter by your university) to take courses taught in English.

- All applicants are encouraged to take at least one section of the Kindai University Intensive Japanese Program.
- All applicants are required to enroll in a minimum of 7 courses to maintain full-time status.

We are here in Osaka, the second biggest city in Japan. It has a population of 8.8 million, or roughly 7% of the entire population. Furthermore, approximately 210,000 non-Japanese, or 9.7% of all non-Japanese registered in Japan, reside in Osaka

Housing

Kindai arranges a single apartment equipped with appliances such as TV, microwave, washing machine, refrigerator, air conditioner within walking distance of our campus. The rent per month is 45,000 yen, including utility charges (water/electricity/gas/internet).

Insurance

All international students who stay in Japan over 3 months are required to subscribe to National Health Insurance (NHI). NHI covers 70% of medical expense and an international student is responsible for the rest, 30% of the expense. NHI premium per month is around 2,000 yen. NHI does not pay a residual disability benefit and an emergency reunion benefit, therefore we require all exchange students to purchase a Study Abroad health (sickness) / accident insurance before they leave for Japan.

*The National Health Insurance does not cover general health examination, immunization, plastic surgery, etc.

Support Service for International Students (Buddy system)

A new support service for international students was introduced in 2012. In this service, Japanese students provide international students with assistance in school as well as daily life. When international students have problems (for example, filling out forms in Japanese or having difficulty when registering for a course), Japanese students help them.

Friendship Societies of International Students

At Kindai University, there are four friendship societies that provide peer counseling and advice when needed. These friendship societies have been created for (1) Chinese students, (2) Taiwanese students, (3) Korean students and (4) Other international students. Newly arrived international students can learn a great deal from their more experienced peers and members of the friendship societies.

The Village E<sup>3</sup> [e-cube]

The Village E<sup>3</sup> [e-cube] opened on the Higashiosaka Campus in November 2006 as a unique place to learn and brush up English skills. The three Es – English, Enjoyment, and Education – represent the facility's concept of learning practical English while having fun.

Only English is allowed at this first-of-its-kind facility for universities in Japan. Native-English-speaking staff members are on hand for practical conversation, and a variety of activities, mini lectures, and events are held in English.

On average, 600 students a day visit the Village. It's open to the public during spring and summer breaks and on special occasions.

In addition, a number of international exchange students enjoy the Village E<sup>3</sup> [e-cube] as volunteers, which gives them a wonderful opportunity to make new friends.

The experience of studying in Japan was a real opportunity for me. However, I was very apprehensive about living in a country with a culture very different from mine. I was pleasantly surprised when I arrived in Japan. The Kindai University is very welcoming and allows international students to integrate into the student life. The staff are really nice and helpful. They bring us real support in this adventure. This experience was an opportunity for me to exchange with the Japanese students, to discover this wonderful culture which brings us always more surprise and a new courses to enrich my academic career. After my first semester of academic exchange at Kindai, I decided to continue this incredible experience by extending my academic exchange. That is why I recommend that all students who wish to discover Japanese culture and live an exciting adventure come to Osaka, at Kindai.

I have always been fascinated by the Japanese language and the Japanese culture. The experience of studying in Japan as a semester exchange student, came as a real opportunity for me. I was pleasantly surprised when I arrived in Japan. I was awestruck seeing the campus. The university campus is huge, with a number of activities always taking place. The Kindai University is extremely welcoming, supportive and always encouraging students to explore new opportunities. The staff, the teachers are all really supportive, helping us even in the smallest of our problems. Apart from interacting with Japanese students, I had an opportunity to learn about different cultures and languages. I was also able to explore the beautiful and unique culture; which Japan has to offer. That's why I can truly recommend Kindai University for a semester abroad, as you get to experience the cultural diversity and liveliness of Kindai University staying right in Osaka.

From Chitkara Univ

I feel very happy to have been able to spend my exchange year in a university like Kindai. Despite the huge size of the campus and the large number of students compared to my home university, the atmosphere here is relaxed, homely and accepting. It has been surprisingly easy to adapt to the student life in Japan, since the staff and students of Kindai really put effort into supporting the exchange students in every imaginable situation. Everyone is very kind, genuine and fun to talk to, and you can find everything you need at the modern, well-equipped campus. I have also been surprised with how many invitations there are to different kinds of exciting events and opportunities to discover Japanese culture as an exchange student. If you want to have an exchange experience full of fascinating encounters and interesting new things to learn, I can guarantee that you won't regret choosing Japan and Kindai University as your destination!
